Major characteristics

Major characteristics

First degree studies in the field of Management lasting 6 semesters. During the first year of studies, training courses are modules in which general knowledge is passed on and skills needed during studies in semesters are shaped. Starting from the semester, during semesters 3-6, students complete compulsory subjects, benefit from the learning outcomes and graduate competences, but also, in each of these semesters, have the opportunity to pursue selected subjects. In semesters 3-4, students choose three per semester, for a total of 9 ECTS credits in each semester, of which two modules are offered in the group of specific fields of study, and one in the study group, expanding additional information and knowledge. In semesters 5 and 6, students complete four modules selected from groups of selected majors (two per semester), for a total of 12 ECTS and two elective subjects in a foreign language for 4 ECTS. The freedom to choose from the offered set gives students the opportunity to shape their professional development paths within the field of study, but also gives them the opportunity to expand their knowledge due to the direct relationship with the fields of study. In the semesters, select the majors and use them in the preceding semester. The selection pool to choose from each semester is open and allows for new entry.

The study program provides for the possibility of taking advantage of mobility. During semesters 3-6, students can participate in an international exchange under the Erasmus program. The study program includes subjects dedicated to visiting professors (a subject in a foreign language).

Learning objectives

The aim of education in the field of Management are aimed at gaining by students a thorough theoretical and practical knowledge in the field of management and quality sciences and related sciences regarding the essence, regularities and problems of the functioning of organizations - enterprises, public institutions. They have the skills to identify, diagnose and solve problems related to managing human, material, financial and information resources.

Education concept

The concept of education in the field of Management enables first-cycle students to learn and understand, among others: the theoretical foundations of the relationship between social structures and institutions, and in particular between enterprises, organizations and households, on a national and international scale; principles of human activity as a subject constituting an enterprise and organization and functioning within them; methods and tools, including data acquisition techniques, appropriate for the fields of economic sciences, in particular management, allowing to describe economic entities and the processes regulating their functioning; norms and principles (organisational, legal, moral and ethical) regulating the functioning of business entities (enterprises, organizations and households), including, important for management, basic concepts and principles in the field of industrial property protection and copyright law; the principles of creating and developing various forms of entrepreneurship, including the creation and management of a start-up company. The elective courses offered to students (major subjects and subjects in a foreign language) are related to the scientific activity conducted at the University.

Description of work placement (if provided for in the study programme)

During the practice, students are required to perform activities related to the functioning of the institution or enterprise, commissioned by the owner (direct supervisor). It is advisable for the student to perform work related to the field of study. During the internship, students are required to: prepare a detailed internship report in traditional and electronic versions; prepare a presentation about the unit (in an electronic version), keep records in the internship diary regarding the type of work performed, its duration and own observations and conclusions; implementation of tasks set by direct internship supervisors. Completion of the internship in institutions or enterprises (passing the exam) is a necessary requirement to complete the fifth semester of studies. Practice during the studies allows students to verify the knowledge acquired in business practice and gives the opportunity to reflect on further specialization of education, including by selecting subjects to be implemented.

Graduate profile

Graduates know the theoretical basis of the relationship between social structures and institutions, and understand the principles of human functioning in the processes taking place in social structures. They know the norms and principles governing the functioning of economic entities, including the basic concepts and principles in the field of industrial property protection and copyright, as well as the principles of creating and developing various forms of entrepreneurship and social activity, using knowledge in the field of agribusiness management. The graduate also has knowledge of copyright and related rights, as well as the protection of industrial intellectual property.

Graduates are able to obtain source materials in the field of management and analyze the causes and course of specific social, economic and organizational processes and phenomena. They are able to use the acquired knowledge to solve problems typical for the management of phenomena and processes in agribusiness and in rural areas. They have the ability to independently plan and implement their own development, they know a foreign language at the B2 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, and they can use a specialist language in the field of management.

Graduates are ready for team cooperation, performing managerial functions in a team, responsible participation in the preparation of socio-economic projects, as well as ethical and creative problem solving in the field of management, taking into account the specificity of agribusiness.

A graduate of first-cycle studies is prepared to undertake second-cycle or post-graduate studies.
