Foreign SGGW academics and interns met at an integrative culinary workshop. The event took place in a unique historical space - Villa Intrata, on the grounds of the King John III Sobieski Palace Museum in Wilanów.

Under the guidance of experts, participants prepared dishes inspired by recipes from ancient cookery books.

The meeting was organised by the International Relations Office as part of the project 'Internationalisation of SGGW - Attracting Foreign Talent', financed by the NAWA Welcome to Poland programme.

The event enabled the establishment of contacts and relationships between foreign scientists working or doing long-term internships at SGGW.
