NOVEMBER
2025

Living the ELLSperience

CULTIVATING SCIENTIFIC INNOVATION

UPPSALA | SWEDEN

The Euroleague for Life Sciences (ELLS) and the Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences invite SGGW students to participate in the Student Scientific Conference (SSC), which will take place on 14-15 November 2025 in Uppsala, Sweden.

This year's edition is held under the motto:

Living the ELLSperience | Cultivating Scientific Innovation

The conference is a unique opportunity to:

- present your research in an international environment,
- gain valuable scientific and presentation experience,
- network with other students and researchers from ELLS partner universities.

Steps to participate:

Step 1: Submission of papers

Deadline for submitting papers is 16 June 2025. The best abstracts will be selected for an oral or poster presentation (along with a short talk – called poster pitch).

Step 2: Evaluation and feedback

Authors will be informed in early September whether their submission has been accepted and in which form they will be able to present their research.

Step 3: Participant registration

Participant registration (both speakers and listeners) will open in September and continue until early November. Participation as a listener is also possible for those who have not submitted an abstract or whose abstracts are not qualified.

Why you should attend

It's not just a conference – it's an international academic experience that will help you spread your wings as a young scientist. Speeches, posters, discussions, new friends and inspiration – all in a collaborative and open atmosphere.

There will be cash prizes for the authors of the best papers, and active participation in the conference can also earn you extra points towards a research scholarship.

We encourage you to follow the details and register via the website.

If you have any questions, please contact the SGGW International Cooperation Office.
